Congressional Candidate Challenges City on 1st Amendment in Video.

Ephrata Republican Gavin Seim who is running for Washington's 4th CD had an encounter with the City of Ephrata yesterday on 1st amendment rights that is getting widespread attention.

Ephrata, WA (Feb 26, 2014) – Gavin who is known to confront constitutional issues head on and is widely known for past confrontations with agencies like the Department of Homeland Security, had an encounter yesterday in Ephrata that was captured on video.

Gavin posted the video to his YouTube channel and his website yesterday where it has begun garnering nationwide attention. It can be seen here.

"So the city requires a permit to speak on the sidewalk?" - Gavin asked. He was outside the Ephrata WA post office when a city official came up to a woman handing out fliers stating that she needed a permit. Gavin cited early American writings and the Constitution during the dialogue with the city official, which he captured on video.

"It was random. This stuff lands right in front of me and I do not back down on the Constitution. Not at home, not in DC. None of us should – We must question and challenge government all the time. Otherwise they will trample us, every time." - Gavin Said.

"The city official handled this calmly and that's commendable" Added Gavin. "But the city is wrong. We need to have conversations about liberty and that's what we did here. Every level of government needs to be accountable to the people. We can use conservations like this and yes, sometimes confrontations, to light the brushfires of liberty."

Gavin is holding a live Town Hall event online tomorrow to talk about liberty. He encourages people to attend and ask questions.
